

Food Photographer Recipe Writer Job Description

Reports to: Marketing Communications Coordinator

If your perfect evening involves curling up with something you just whipped up in the kitchen, a mug of tea, and a good book, you've found your place! At Plum Deluxe we're passionate about great tea and a great customer experience! We also appreciate a good Star Trek reference and the tacos from our neighboring food trucks.

We're looking for a Food Photographer and Recipe Writer to support our marketing team as needed preparing content for our popular blog, supporting our company's effort to highlight our popular loose leaf tea blends and tea of the month subscription. This includes working with our team on content ideas, writing and photographing detailed blog posts as assigned (typically recipes or tea party themed posts) and submitting completed materials on time and according to our style guide and specified instruction.

Got a side hustle? Going to school part-time? This job will be perfect for you. This is a remote, part-time freelance position paid per completed assignment. You will also be provided with complementary product to use in your recipe itself and photograph where appropriate.

OMG, you had me at Earl Grey! How do I apply?

Please include a cover letter with your resume that mentions your favorite tea (or a tea you'd like to try.) as well as 3 links that display your writing and photography skills. Applications without a cover letter and example links. will not be considered.

Submit your resume and cover letter to ciaran@plumdeluxe.com with the Subject Food Writer Job Application.
